Autumn

Autumn is the season that comes after summer. Leaves of trees become yellow and later orange during this weather. Many leaves become dry and fall off from the trees totally. In autumn, trees become bare and wind starts to become cooler. The weather is pleasant but sometimes dry winds may blow in some parts of the world in autumn weather.

Autumn is the time you can go out in the park and walk on the bright orange leaves that have fallen from the trees. Also, autumn is the season when you can prepare yourself for the chilly winters that are about to come. Many birds migrate to warmer countries when autumn begins. These birds do not find the cool weather suitable and they fly to other far off places where the sun is still out.

Many people love autumn season the best and they want autumn season to last all year long!
