Gobo's Cake

Gobo, the baker was very excited today. He had taken part in the biggest cake competition of the year and for that he had made the most wonderful cakes one had ever seen!

With a pink square shaped cake at the bottom, a yellow circle cake over it and red jelly with strawberry chunks between the two layers of cake present, the entire cake looked absolutely stunning! Gobo had also decorated it with white chocolate pearls and ribbon.

Gobo picked up the cake with great care and put it over the trolley. He pushed the trolley in the long corridor to reach the hall at the other end. Suddenly, the trolley got caught in the carpet and twisted all over.

What happened to the cake? It fell on a tray but it had completely turned now, the circle layer on the top and the square one at the bottom. Gobo was sad but he still took it to the competition hall.

And what happened there? Well, his cake was delicious and the judges gave him first prize for making a topsy turvy cake, which was so different from the rest of the bakers' cakes.
