

A conditional phrase is a condition of something happening. Conditionals talk about both real and unreal situations in the present and future tense.

if when provided whether in case unless as long as

on condition that

If it rains, I use my umbrella.

If we play a game, it's monopoly.

If I need help, my mom will always help me.

My brother bandages me up when I scrape my knees.

I will buy myself a new mountain bike when I earn enough.

I will not go hiking unless you go with me.

I won't have enough money unless you split it with me.

I want to wait until tomorrow, in case you decide to go.

In case someone gets hurt, we should take the first aid kit.

I will help pay your rent, providing you spend time looking for a job.

Our team can win, provided there are no injuries.

You can play that game as long as you're quiet.

You can use my computer on condition that you respect my privacy.

You'll have to pay whether you show up or not.