

Words that rhyme share similar (or the same) sound,
usually in the final syllable.

Read the following sentences. For each line, write two words that rhyme.

Marcus asked his teacher to expand on her answer, while he wrote it out freehand.
He wanted to demand an answer, but let her expand instead.
He knew he would need to study for his exam before he started his program.
His knack was for music, not attacking math problems.
His mom was making pizza dough, although he knew it was for tomorrow.
His favorite was her special grand spicy sauce, as he didn't like anything bland.
He would share some of his square pizza with his friends after baseball.
He began to quake in his boots as he thought about his huge mistake.	