

Adverb Poetry

Worksheet 1

Put an adverb in each blank to complete the poem.

Remember an adverb modifies a verb, adverb, or adjective. Choose your adverb with care.

A _____ little poem just for you about the weather outside.

The winter winds _____ blew

It seemed like they could cut right through

My _____ wrapped scarf and _____ laced boots

Came undone often like they were in cahoots.

My nose ran so _____ and my face glowed _____

I knew if I tracked in snow my mom would scold me.

I built a(n) _____ happy snowman, hoped he would come to life.

If it hadn't been so cold I would have built him a _____ snowy wife.

I'm headed in now to warm my _____ frozen body

Maybe tomorrow I'll built a snow puppy name Lottie.

Draw a picture to go with the poem you created.

Answer Sheet (Answers will vary greatly)

A silly little poem just for you about the weather outside.

The winter winds coldly blew

It seemed like they could cut right through

My loosely wrapped scarf and tightly laced boots

Came undone often like they were in cahoots.

My nose ran so grossly and my face glowed boldly

I knew if I tracked in snow my mom would scold me.

I built a(n) awfully happy snowman, hoped he would come to life.

If it hadn't been so cold I would have built him a silly snowy wife.

I'm headed in now to warm my completely frozen body

Maybe tomorrow I'll built a snow puppy name Lottie.
