

Subordinating Conjunction Sentence Openers

Worksheet 1

Choose from the list of subordinating conjunctions to create a strong sentence opener. Words can be used more than once.

(After, although, once, yet, so, rather than, even, before, even though, wherever, whether, which, until, unless, as soon as)

1. _____ leaving the party we are going to get ice cream.
2. _____ you believe the story or not, I know it to be true.
3. _____ you finish your homework you cannot go out and play.
4. _____ throwing food why don't you help clean up.
5. _____ you decide to go or not is up to you.
6. _____ my parents are out of town we stay with grandma.
7. _____ my brother goes to sleep he starts snoring.
8. _____ I really like chocolate, I prefer strawberry ice cream.
9. _____ you can earn some extra money we cannot go to the concert.
10. _____ Henry finished his vegetables he did not get dessert.
11. _____ you learn how important brushing your teeth is you will not stop.
12. _____ you go in life your parents will always care about you.

Answer Sheet (answers may vary, but should make sense with the sentence)

After, although, once, yet, so, rather than, even, before, even though, wherever, whether, which, until, unless, as soon as

1. After leaving the party we are going to get ice cream.
2. Whether you believe the story or not, I know it to be true.
3. Unless you finish your homework you cannot go out and play.
4. Rather than throwing food why don't you help clean up.
5. Whether you decide to go or not is up to you.
6. Whenever my parents are out of town we stay with grandma.
7. As soon as my brother goes to sleep he starts snoring.
8. Although I really like chocolate, I prefer strawberry ice cream.
9. Unless you can earn some extra money we cannot go to the concert.
10. Even though Henry finished his vegetables he did not get dessert.
11. Once you learn how important brushing your teeth is you will not stop.
12. Wherever you go in life your parents will always care about you.