

Past Perfect Continuous Tense

Past perfect continuous tenses express or describe an action or event that happened in the past, continued for some time in the past, and ended at a particular time in the past. Past perfect continuous tense is formed using had + been + the present participle of the verb (root + ing).

Example

I had been reading my books since last week.

We had been spending the money without your permission.