

Future Perfect Continuous Tense

The future perfect continuous tense is used to describe an action that is ongoing and will be completed in the future. In this tense, the speaker is thinking about a situation or action that is ongoing did not finish at the time the speaker made that statement.

To form a future perfect continuous tense, you need to add the future perfect form of the verb "will have been" and the present continuous form of your main verb (main verb + ing).

Examples:

1. I will have been working in the kitchen since I returned from work (finished process).
2. She will have been coming to school for months.